How does a Letter of Credit work?

1. Buyer and Seller enter into contract and agree that payment will be made on the basis of LC.
2. Buyer approaches DBS (Issuing Bank) to issue LC in favour of Seller.
3. DBS issues LC which is advised through its branch or correspondent bank (Advising Bank) in the Seller's country.
4. Advising Bank advises LC to Seller.
5. Upon receipt of LC, Seller prepares shipment and delivers documents to Presenting Bank (which could also be your Advising Bank).
6. Presenting Bank despatches documents to DBS for payment.
7. a. DBS pays Presenting Bank upon verifying that the documents are in order.
b. Upon receipt of payment, Presenting Bank pays Seller.
8. Buyer pays the document amount to DBS.
9. DBS forwards the documents to Buyer, who can now use them to obtain the goods.
